

Bharatiya Temple of Lansing proudly presents Sangeetanjali on June 12th (Saturday)
UDAYAN PARIKH and ALAAP PARIKH will perform at the Temple (in main hall)

निसर्गभिन्नस्पदमेकसन्स्थं !! अस्मिन्द्वयं श्रीश्व सरस्वतिश्व !!

"Nature seldom bestows brains and brawns together in one person but here is one who irradiates both".

UDAYAN PARIKH of Houston, Texas, is an accomplished Ghazal and classical singer. His music speaks emotionally and intellectually, which is quite skillfully portrayed in his many compact disc albums. "Early Frost", "That's Me" and "No More Tears" are some of the most popular ones. Amongst the instruments, he commands mastery over Santoor, the stringed one, and Tabla, the indispensable percussion-rhythm vehicle. He has ascended to the pinnacles of a number of talents like vocal music and instrumental music with original composition and rendering capabilities, writing poems and drama.

The accompanying percussionist is Master Alaap Udayan Parikh, one of the youngest in this profession. Even as a preschooler he was promising to blossom into a Tabla player, and before he was ten, he eased out a professional tabla player who used to be on the dais with Udayan and other singers. The duo is sure to conquer new pinnacles of virtuosity and enrich the musical heritage of India. Alaap is a bright college student in Houston.
